Instead of for the Harvard-Vale meet, two weeks earlier.
Overton is built on much the same lines as Gaorge Brown, exptain of the Vale 1814 team, who did 1.54 for the built. He has more strength than Brown, but has not shown outs such a burst of speed at the finish. Overton suight to score an easy triumph in the mile, if a victory over a 4.22 man like windnagie, of Cornell, likely to be his strongest antagonist, can be called easy. In the half mile field he will be up against two great runners in Ted Meredith, of Ponnsylvania, holder of the world's record of 1831-2, and Bingham, of Harvard. Meredith and overton will have had to run another hard race before the half. Meredith the quarter and Overton the mile. This is sure to affect their times.
